Do you understand what the Delusion rubrics mean?

Most recently, a young Belgium homeopath asked me how to get more out of the Repertory. I suggested she slowly read through the Delusion rubrics, making sure to understand each one. It is this insight which makes me very happy to endorse this enormous work of Liz Lalor.

The Delusion rubrics are treasures which need to be unlocked. Some homeopaths dismiss them altogether as delusions which are too difficult to rely upon. Liz Lalor has come up with a most interesting concept to not only understand these critical rubrics but to effectively use them in practice.

I am proud that she prefers using out team's work to do so. When editing the repertory, we have spent much time to remain faithful to the source texts. These efforts are complementary to the wisdom and work, generously explained in Liz's book. I trust that the reader of Homeopathic Psychiatry will find the repertory to be an even more accurate tool.

Chief Architect of the Synthesis Repertory and Homeopathic coordinator of the Radar project.

Liz Lalor has taken homeopathic rubric-repertorisation and traditional counselling techniques, and combined the two to create an invaluable case-taking manual. In 2008 Lalor presented a series of lectures on her video cases in a lecture series called 'Revealing the Disturbance in the Case', in London, Belgium, and the Netherlands. Her psychological insight into the mental and emotional disturbance in patients suffering with chronic disease has been the catalyst to this groundbreaking understanding of the Delusion rubrics. Homeopathic Psychiatry is not only a great addition to understanding case-taking techniques it is an extensive Materia medica study of the meaning and application of the Delusion rubrics.

Lalor's model teaches homeopaths how to follow the five psychological steps that the patient will move through in a homeopathic consultation as they struggle to acknowledge their loss of good health. This book is an extensive, previously unexplored explanation of the meaning of each individual Delusion rubrics. The individual psychiatric interpretation of each Delusion rubric is an invaluable guide to understanding these previously misunderstood and underutilized rubrics in our repertory. Lalor presents several cases from her practice. In each case analysis, Lalor clearly defines the four necessary requirements for the use of the Delusion rubrics in a patient's case analysis, and unravels the significant events to give an explanation of the causation within the case, and an explanation of her rubric-repertorisation technique.

Homeopathic Psychiatry is a Materia medica study of the psychotherapeutic application of the need for the psychological delusions within each of the constitutional remedy profiles. This Materia medica will be a great addition to your understanding of the destructive pathology within the simillimum. Homeopathic Psychiatry is a Materia medica which will transform case-repertorisation.

Liz Lalor has a practice covering all aspects of health, in particular specializing in the treatment of autoimmune disorders, and infertility. Liz brings to her teaching, experience in counselling and somatic psychotherapy. Liz uses constitutional homeopathy within a conventional counselling practice to help her patients understand more about themselves as a particular 'homeopathic constitutional type'. Liz is able to draw upon her experience of counselling the more 'unusual' constitutional remedy profiles and has written articles on – Agaricus and Alice in Alice's Adventure in Wonderland – Frodo and Gollum and the remedy profiles of Anacardium and Mancinella from Tolkien's tale The Lord of the Rings – Hamlet and the remedy profile of Muriaticum acidum – Tarentula hispanica and the character of Iago from Shakespeare's Othello and Anhalonium and Queen Galadriel from Tolkien's tale The Lord of the Rings. Liz has published articles on Baryta carbonicum, Luna, Arnica, Medorrhinum, Natrum sulphuricum, Carcinosin, Lachumanum, Muriaticum acidum, and Homeopathic Psychiatry, in Similia, Homeopathy in Practice, Homeopathy International, Links, and American Journal of Homeopathy. Her first book: A Homeopathic Guide to Partnership and Compatibility is an exploration of constitutional remedy profiles and romantic compatibility. This was the first Materia medica to be sold in main stream bookshops. Liz is the originator of the Liz Lalor Fertility Program. Liz has worked with 262 different women and has been successful with 232 babies born. Liz has taught her fertility program in Australia, London, and the Netherlands.
